Be a Good Worker

Step 1: Read the following story about Susan.

As a housekeeper, Susan's job is to make up the hotel rooms for the guests. She has a lot of rooms to clean, so she has to work quickly. Susan makes sure that her linen cart has the supplies she needs. Then she does all of the work on her checklist. She takes pride in her work. When she finishes a room, she puts a welcome card with some candy on the table. "Then the guests will know that I want them to enjoy their stay," she says.

Welcome to the City Garden Hotel

I took great pride in making up this room for you.

I hope everything will be satisfactory.

Please call the Housekeeping Department at extension 421 if there is anything you need.

Enjoy your stay!

Your Room Attendant, Susan

When she opens the door to a room,

Susan is very careful not to disturb the guests. She always knocks on the door first and says, "Housekeeping." She does not want to surprise the guests. If the guests want to stay in the room longer, she says, "I'll come back later."

Susan is always friendly. She smiles and says "good morning" or "hello" to the guests and to her co-workers when they pass her in the hall. Susan says, "I like working with people. That's the best part of my job."

Step 2: Write Yes in the space if the sentence is true and No if it is false.

- 1. _____ A housekeeper must clean a lot of rooms quickly.
- Susan likes to surprise the guests.
- 3. _____ Susan takes pride in her work.
- 4. _____ If a guest wants to stay in a room longer, Susan says, "I'll come back later."
- 5. _____ Susan opens the guests' rooms without knocking first.
